

The HHL Leipzig Graduate School of Management is a university and is one of the leading international Business Schools. The goal of the HHL as the oldest institute for higher education in business in the German-speaking world is to educate effective, responsible and entrepreneurial leaders. Aside from the international focus, the fruitful combination of theory and practice is of particular importance. The HHL excels in the quality of teaching, clear research orientation and close transfer of research to practice as well as in the exceptional service for students. As of 2011, the HHL has been pursuing the innovate125 growth strategy.

The Chair of Accounting and Auditing held by
Prof. Dr. Henning Zülch is searching for a new Project Assistant/Doctoral Student (m/f/d)
to join our team at the earliest date possible.

The planned duration of the position is four years and is typically awarded in cooperation with a partner organization from practice. Over the four years, the project assistant will work at the partner organization for 24 months (4 x 6 months) and at the Chair of Accounting and Auditing for 24 months (4 x 6 months).

Who we are:

The Chair of Accounting and Auditing at HHL is one of the leading German institutions working in the area of international accounting. Under the leadership of Prof. Dr. Henning Zülch, the Chair pursues a wide variety of teaching and research activities. In addition, the Chair values close cooperation with respected partners in academia and business practice.

Your tasks and doctoral studies:

Throughout your time at the Chair, you will contribute to academic and practice-orientated publications as well as countless projects (for example, on the topic of financial market communications). You will also be responsible for teaching and administrative activities at the Chair. We consider your time at the Chair to be a time of intensive learning which will prepare you for an excellent career thereafter and will ensure that your engagement is structured accordingly. In addition, pursuing your doctorate at the HHL offers you all the advantages and quality of service of our Business School. During your studies, you will meet students from all over the world with diverse experience in both academia and business practice. The opportunities offered to you by the international character and global network at HHL are unbounded.

Your profile:

A successfully completed university degree in the field of business with an above average academic record and specialization in a relevant field is requisite for your employment at the Chair. We are looking for a communicative team player who is dedicated and enjoys conceptual and creative tasks and also, is comfortable with applying quantitative methods of analysis.

We offer you an attractive and challenging job in an enthusiastic team with a professional and inspiring work atmosphere as well as connections to important research networks. For further information, don't hesitate to contact Carl Weuster (0341 98 51-656). We look forward to receiving your application (cover letter, CV, academic transcript and, if applicable, referee recommendations) which we request you to send to: carl.weuster@hhl.de
