

	Instruction & teaching Article 60a UrhWissG	Scientific research Article 60c UrhWissG
Who may use it?	Instructors and participants of a course, including preparation and follow-up work (e.g. examination)	Limited circle of people for the purpose of their own scientific research Third-party individuals if it serves to review the quality of the scientific research (e.g. peer review)
What may be used?	100% articles from scientific journals ¹ (only one single article per journal)	100% articles from scientific journals
	100% "small" works ²	100% data and illustrations 100% "small" works ²
	100% works out of print	100% works out of print
	100% figures from professional journals	≤ 15% from works ³ (books, films etc.) on the intranet
	≤ 15% from works ³ (books, films etc.)	≤ 75 % copy of a work for individual scientific research (no dissemination)
How may it be used?	For non-commercial purposes	For non-commercial scientific research and examination purposes
	Upload to limited-access intranets, Copies	Upload to limited-access intranets
What may NOT be used?	Articles from newspapers and magazines (only ≤ 15 % and within quotation rights)	Articles from newspapers and magazines (only ≤ 15 % and within quotation rights)
	audio and video recordings of public speeches, performances or presentations of a work and making these recordings publicly available later	audio and video recordings of public speeches, performances or presentations of a work and making these recordings publicly available later
General rule	No priority for licencing offers by the copyright holders/publishing houses (only applies to contracts concluded after March 1, 2018)
	Appropriate compensation; no individual reporting required, but flat-rate compensation: framework contract between collecting societies such as VG Wort, KMK or VPH
	¹ General interest magazines and newspapers are excluded; the 15% permission applies to these publications
	² Texts which are no longer than 25 pages
	³ 15% = all pages, including list of content and literature, preface, introduction as well as indexes of names and subjects; with the exception of blank pages and pages consisting of mostly figures
* Use: x% of a published work may be copied, disseminated and made publicly available		